

Stream metrics storage

Time series database is used to store stream metric values. With a small amount of publications on monitored servers and therefore small amounts of stored metrics, Influx DB can be used. Under high load and for relatively long-term metrics storage it is recommended to use Timescale DB.

- Stream metrics storage in Influx DB
- Stream metrics storage in Timescale DB